Hana Saemon-Beck, PhD | Educator, Adult Trainer, Curriculum Designer

Over 20 years of experience across Singapore and Aotearoa New Zealand, with a practice grounded in inclusive education and diverse ways of thinking.

Passionate about inclusive education, her work focuses on recognising diverse ways of thinking and creating learning spaces where individuals can thrive. Her interest in neurodiversity is grounded in lived experience as an educator working closely with both youth and adult learners.

She believes education should create space for different ways of thinking and being, rather than expecting everyone to fit the same mould.
